

Want to write for Connections?

The National Career Pathways Network welcomes article submissions for its newsletter, Connections. (Visit the archive of past issues.) Connections is published bi-monthly and reaches a sizable readership encompassing secondary and postsecondary faculty, administrators, and counselors; adult education professionals; workforce development personnel; policymakers; and employers.

Articles should follow these guidelines:

- Topics should support NCPN’s mission of advancing Career Pathways, Adult Career Pathways, career technical education, and workforce development initiatives.
- Articles should provide information that is useful to readers. Examples include best practices, lessons learned, successful strategies, recent data, and applications of technology or other recent innovations.
- Length: 500–600 words; delivered as a Microsoft Word file
- Provide links to supporting information.
- Provide author photo(s), logos of featured organizations, and 1-2 high resolution (300 dpi) photos of “action shots” (students engaged in an activity rather than head shots) related to the article.

Thank you for supporting NCPN!

Direct questions to Mark Whitney, Connections editor, at mwhitney@cord.org.