- 00:56:09 Trey Braddy: If you have questions please send to "Everyone". Thank you!
- 01:08:53 Stacey Miller: Will this powerpoint be sent to attendees? Thank you!!
- 01:09:28 Trevor Chandler: If Kyle Jones is involved with something, it's guaranteed to be active!!!
- 01:10:03 Claudia Maness: Yes. You should receive an email with the link within the next week. It will also be posted on our website www.ncpn.info.
- 01:11:00 Adam Parrillo: Co-leadership structure/methodology? Are there leadership team membership roles/positions?
- 01:13:28 Trey Braddy: If you have questions please send to "Everyone". Thank you!
- 01:13:29 Mark Dempsey: Adam, at the BILT meetings there is often a BILT chairperson to help manage the group and host the meeting.
- 01:13:54 Mark Dempsey: Then on the educator side there is a facilitator to help also manage the meeting.
- 01:14:00 Mark Dempsey: Is that what you were asking?
- 01:15:38 Adam Parrillo: Yes. I am wrapping my head around the structural elements that make these different than other types of advisory committees/councils.
- 01:15:47 John Van Zandt: Would it be beneficial to incorporate youth/student voice in the BILT?
- 01:16:16 Laura Berry: Doug, you said that Lakeshore instructors are the "instructors" of record. What credentials must the high school teachers have?
- 01:16:33 Mark Dempsey: Adam, I'll pose that to the panel in just a moment.
- 01:18:12 Ann Beheler: CTC is Convergence Technology Center -
- 01:18:30 Mark Dempsey: National CTC <https://connectedtech.org/>
- 01:20:36 Nisheeth Agrawal: High schools typically have only one teacher. Where and how do you suggest they get help to form their BILT?
- 01:21:00 Mark Dempsey: Thanks for the questions, everyone. I'm keeping a list... will pose to the panel.
- 01:22:15 John Van Zandt: Maybe it varies, but is the idea that students take specialized college credit courses in high school and then transition directly to employment, or onto the colleges for further instruction?
- 01:22:37 Renee Blackshear: How do you convince administrators to buy in and support the process?
- 01:23:05 Anna Wandtke: Under Perkins V, secondary and postsecondary ed are encouraged to participate in joint advisory committees. How would this work in the BILT model?
- 01:23:48 Mark Dempsey: Agree with Kyle. For us, the BILT chairperson may run the trends discussion and comes prepared to do that, but the logistical work is done by us. We plan the rest of the agenda.
- 01:24:08 Adam Parrillo: I don't expect this to be answered, but I wonder how BILT voting is integrated into college governance/policy structures as this is seen as more "official" by participants that are external to the institution. Interesting thought experiment!
- 01:26:11 Ron Monroig: Do you have summer workshops/boot camps secondary ed students, if so, does this have an impact on fall enrollment?
- 01:27:33 Christopher Green: Good discussion. Question for the panel - How do you promote faculty engagement in the BILT model at the high school and college levels?

01:28:04 Nisheeth Agrawal: How do we persuade people about the importance of the vote on various things?

01:29:57 Heather Steel: What is your process for recruiting a wide variety of business and industry? How are you accessing new businesses, instead of the same people that serve on the Advisory Boards?

01:39:23 Veronica Griffith: Do you have a co-enrollment program with Your Adult Education Programs? Bilt programs that utilize Adult Education?

01:46:22 Mark Dempsey: Some of the questions we couldn't address right now can be answered by visiting our resource page. <https://nationalctc.nationalctcwiki.org/biltresources>

01:46:34 Mark Dempsey: We have videos and process documents posted there.

01:47:06 Mark Dempsey: There's a "Common Barriers" video that talks a little about admin buy-in and recruiting employers to join the BILT.
